Satan Says

By Robert L. Moak

The Following Article Is An Excerpt From A Book Being Written, Entitled “Satan Says!”

This article is being included in the World By Design newsletter in the hope it may generate some interest in Christians questioning their resolve to lead a sinless lifestyle! Of course, this is not entirely possible while we still exist in this cursed world.

A statement or question heads each in the following sections. These statements are attributed to Satan in a format similar to a Simon Says session. Most of us have either participated in or witnessed a Simon Says drill. In such a competition a person barks out orders, and if the order is prefaced by the term “Simon Says” the participant must do what the instructor says. If the order or command is not prefaced by “Simon Says” then the participant must not do as ordered, if you do, you lose and must then sit-out the rest of the competition. In the following, humans are being directed by Satan, with the command “Satan Says,” and they have little choice but to listen to his commands.

However, we must always remember that followers of Jesus are protected by God, and we are always in a position of power over Satan, through reliance on the Holy Spirit. Resist him, standing firm in the faith, because you know that your brothers throughout the world are undergoing the same kind of sufferings. (1 Peter 5:9) However, God allows Satan access to travel from the earth to heaven, but Satan cannot stay in heaven, as he and his defecting angels have been cast down to the earth. Satan appears before God as an accuser, as we have read about in the book of Job. Therefore, Satan is always available to tempt you to do as “Satan Says!” Have you fallen for some of these lies from Satan?

Satan Says - It Is Obvious God Is Not All-Good, Because So Many Bad Things Happen!

Why do bad things happen to good people? This question or a similar one has been asked by most of us at some time in our lives. There may not be an acceptable answer to such a question for many people.

However, before we try to answer this question it may be appropriate to ask another question. The question is, “how do we decide when something happens that it is bad?”

Thunderstorms, Judgment or Common Grace?

By Terry Ivers

With spring in full swing, the warm sunny days will allow us to enjoy the outdoors, involve ourselves in sports, yard work, back yard barbeques and all other manner of spring and summer activities. Along with the warming temperatures, the threat for severe weather will also increase, with that in mind I thought this would be a great time to explore thunderstorms in the light of God's intended purpose. Thunderstorms are one of the greatest displays of God's awesome power and at the same time one of the most useful features for human life on this planet.

In the Book of Job, Elihu, one of Job's (friends) proclaims these things to Job, <sup>1</sup> "At this also my heart trembles and leaps out of its place. <sup>2</sup> Keep listening to the thunder of his voice and the rumbling that comes from his mouth. <sup>3</sup> Under the whole heaven he lets it go, and his lightning to the corners of the earth. <sup>4</sup> After it his voice roars; he thunders with his majestic voice, and he does not restrain the lightnings when his voice is heard. <sup>5</sup> God thunders wondrously with his voice; he does great things that we cannot comprehend." (Job 37:1-5)(ESV) The Psalmist writes <sup>2</sup> "Clouds and thick darkness are all around him; righteousness and justice are the foundation of his throne. <sup>3</sup> Fire goes before him and burns up his adversaries all around. <sup>4</sup> His lightnings light up the world; the earth sees and trembles. <sup>5</sup> The mountains melt like wax before the Lord, before the Lord of all the earth." (Psalm 97:2-5)(ESV) When the Israelites were at the mountain waiting on God to meet with Moses; the thunder and lightning were taken as a sign of judgment upon them to stay off the mountain as God directed them. <sup>18</sup> "Now when all the people saw the thunder and the flashes of lightning and the sound of the trumpet and the mountain smoking, the people were afraid and trembled, and they stood far off" (Exodus 20:18)(ESV). All throughout scripture, thunder and lightning are used inferring judgment and exhibiting the power of God.

<http://www.makoodle.com/wp-content/uploads/2012/07/lightning.jpg>

Thunderstorms are one of God's greatest gifts of common grace to His Creation, they are not only associated with God's power and judgment, but they are necessary to sustain life on planet Earth. Even though I am 60 years old I am still amazed by thunder and lightning, and even though I understand what causes them, they sometimes still cause fear to well up inside me. Thunderstorms are a common occurrence all over the globe, in the United States, Florida leads the nation with an average of 100 thunderstorm days per year, however, Kampala, Uganda currently holds the record with 240 thunderstorm days per year. There are estimated to be around 1800 thunderstorms per day, or 16 million thunderstorms per year happening all the time all over the world. A single bolt of lightning can reach up to 5 miles in length and be seen from a distance of 100 miles, while thunder can be heard up to 25 miles away. The greater the period of time between the flash of lightning and the thunder can give an indication of the distance that the storm is from your position. A decreasing amount of time indicates an approaching storm, versus an increasing passage of time indicates a passing storm.

All Sciences Are Not Equal

By Paul McDorman
Re-print from:
June-July 2007
World By Design Newsletter

Unfortunately, not all sciences are born equal. You may have noticed that scientists in some fields of research always seem to speak or write with more assurance of their results than scientists in other fields. And sometimes, even scientists in the same field appear to exude different degrees of certainty of their results. Some make bold claims, and others are careful to use caution. How then does one know for sure how certain a scientist's findings really are?

Actually, it is not easy and people may be surprised how controversial findings in science can be, even in the so called "hard" sciences. Typically, scientists like to think that they have done careful research and that their results are true as they have reported them. In actuality though, when assumptions are accounted for, and the results of other scientific research are examined, it becomes evident that all is not cut and dry. The objectivity that science claims for itself is often unwarranted.

According to insiders, when scientific journals pick and choose what is important to publish, one also discovers that many reviewing editors are quite biased. Also, writers sometimes embellished or emphasized things to promote a popular issue, like the environment, evolution, or the search for extraterrestrial life. And when scientific news filters down to popular magazines, truth can become even more compromised. Unfortunately, ulterior motives come into play in scientific research and probably the top two are grant money and professional pride.

However, some sciences inherently have a higher degree of certainty in their findings. One way to determine which sciences are more "sure" is to find the ones where scientists argue less frequently! Take chemistry for example. Chemists seldom argue. They seem pretty certain of their claims. A chemist will probably never say, for example, that he may have discovered a new compound. It is either he did or he didn't discover a new compound. Even more importantly is that other chemists will seldom dispute a fellow chemist's research. A lack of disagreement therefore makes one suspect that chemistry is a field where things are pretty certain.

At the other extreme, one could cite the science of paleontology, or the study of fossils. When one examines what paleontologists say, one finds a lot of disagreement. If paleontologists stuck to the fossils themselves; their shape, composition dimensions, where they were found, etc., there would be no disagreements. But when they start to make interpretations of their findings, such as when it lived, where it lived, what its ancestors were, and what it evolved into, then there is plenty of room for disagreement.

When creationists point out the disagreement that paleontologists have among themselves, they respond indignantly that evolution is not what they are disputing; but the details of how evolution occurred! In other words, they want to give the appearance that evolution is a fact since they are in complete harmony about that.

EDITOR'S THOUGHTS?

By Terry Ivery

"I think the whole d... thing is overexaggerated. . ."

Harry R Truman, March 31st 1980
The Longview Daily News

Welcome to the summer edition of the World By Design Newsletter, we are glad that you have chosen once again to show interest in CRSEF and its activities. Apologies are due to all of our readers for the delay and subsequent missing April - June edition of the Newsletter, we pray that this current rendering will be informative and useful to all those that faithfully follow and support CRSEF. In this issue we will look at thunderstorms, differing reliabilities between fields of sciences, and please take note of the upcoming events that CRSEF will be taking part in the next few months.

The Midwest Homeschool Convention, held at the Duke Energy Convention Center in Cincinnati, OH. March 31st – April 2nd 2016 was once again a great opportunity for us to interact and to engage people of all ages and beliefs. The patrons and the exhibitors both were very interested in the CRSEF display. Dino-Tex as usual was a favorite photo spot and the ark model as well as the new young Sauropod and infant Sauropod exiting the egg display received a lot of attention and were great conversation starters. During the three days we were able to inform many people as well as confirm for others the newest scientific information available supporting a young earth. Even though most patrons being homeschool parents and students that support Biblical Creation and a Young Earth, there are from time to time those that either have other views or have not thought about it at all. This face to face interaction with all types of people allows many opportunities to share the gospel as well as plant seeds with those that might have doubts about the age of the earth. This is one of the largest events that we participate in and is only possible through the financial gifts of those that believe in what we do. Visitors to the CRSEF booth are always very grateful for the information that we provide free of charge so that they can take something home with them to use for themselves or to give to people in their lives that do not believe in a young earth. I would like to thank all those that helped with the set-up and teardown as well as those that helped man the display booth for the event, without these people this event would not be possible for CRSEF to participate in each year.

If you have questions or concerns about this newsletter, past issues or YEC questions in general, and /or you have information or articles that you would like to see in future newsletters please contact us at editor\_wbdnewsletter@twc.com. I would like to thank you for your interest in CRSEF and the newsletter, we look forward to serving you in the future.

Could you please help support CRSEF at this event in 2017, it will be our fourth straight year attending. This is a very important opportunity for us to introduce and help educate homeschool parents and students about the scientific evidence supporting a Biblical six day creation and a young Earth.

If there is not a holy God to compare with, then what constitutes it to be a good or a bad event? If there is no ultimate good to compare with, why do we think some hardship a person suffers is bad? If things just happen without the control of a Supreme Being, then there actually is no such thing as good or bad. Everything is just an event!

Since we have an innate sense of good or evil, does this not indicate that there is a God! How else can we judge that an event is good or bad? If we were not created in the image and likeness of God, how could we judge any event as being bad?

Satan Says - If God Is All-Good Why Did He Create Satan?

If God knows the future why did He create Satan, and then allow him to go live on the earth? If Satan were not tempting people many of them would remain good and would be saved. The complete answer to this question will not be answered by any human being, but the following may help us understand God's plan. If there was not a tempter then it seems most people would be good. However, how do we now determine who is good? If there were no temptations then there would be no need to avoid committing sins, but also there would be no testing, which is one of the main tests that help us develop our character.

If Satan (evil) did not exist, then how would we judge what is good or evil? There would be no testing of our souls. We could not have a free will, as there would be nothing to avoid. This statement is not meant to be a judgment of what God did just an attempt to get a logical approach to the situation that does exist. The fact is Satan did tempt Adam and Eve, and because of it Satan was cursed to eternal separation from God. However, since Satan (all angels) was created as an immortal being he will continue to exist somewhere. God cast him out of heaven and sent him to earth, but Satan still maintained his free will.

God gave all of us a free will too, and then allows Satan to tempt us. He could have created us without a free will, but then we would be like a robot operating exactly as God programmed us. Parents will better understand the following logic. When people decide to have children, they do not know how they will turn out! Some children (people) turn out to be bad. Everyone knows this, but people still decide to have children! God being our heavenly Father may look at each of us in this way. God knows that Satan may win our souls, but He still allows us to be created.

Satan Says - God Did Not Create Everything, It All Happened By Random Chance Processes!

Many people believe that the earth came into being without any guidance by a Supreme Being. They believe it all just happened due to circumstances occurring without any control. There was just a Big Bang, and the entire universe was created. Then over millions or even billions of years, life formed because coincidentally the earth just happened to land in the correct position to support life forms.

Life evolved over billions of years through sheer luck until mankind finally evolved to start recording what was happening. Many people believe this theory is backed by scientific evidence and therefore, must be believed as a fact.

The fact is the theory of evolution is just that a theory, and cannot be proved using scientific methods! Since evolution cannot be proved using scientific methods, then it requires faith in human intelligence to believe it as a fact. Professing faith in anything makes the belief become a religion; it can no longer be considered science!

A single bolt of lightning can produce up to 100 million electrical volts and produce temperatures approaching 50,000 degrees Fahrenheit in a split second. Some thunderstorms release around 10 million kilowatt hours of energy, which is equal to a 20 kilo-ton nuclear warhead, but larger thunderstorms can produce 10 to 100 times more energy.

The energy that is released during a thunderstorm is only the beginning of the common grace that God has supplied for visual blessings, but all life on Earth benefits from the natural chemical reactions and effects of thunderstorms. A common thunderstorm produces several hundred million gallons of water, which is equivalent to the amount of water passing over Niagara Falls every 6 minutes. Thunderstorms are a major contributor in the hydrological cycle that all life forms on Earth depend. When a lightning bolt passes through the sky it releases nitrogen, which in it's vapor form mixes with hydrogen, creating a fertilizer that then falls to the earth as rain. The release of the nitrogen also helps to clear impurities in the atmosphere which is why the air smells fresher after a storm.

<http://photographyblogger.net/lightning/>

God has given a great gift through the visual beauty of thunderstorms, as well He has used them throughout history for warning and judgment. As I searched for photos for this article, I found a post (photographyblogger.net/lightning/) on a blog site (photographyblogger.net) that not only had this great quote but also has some amazing photos. Nate Kay posted the photo's and this quote, "It's amazing how much attention we give to how much power humans can create through our own technology and thinking, yet nature continues to make the strongest armies bow when it decides to release it's fury." I strongly agree with Nate except it is not nature that is releasing the fury but the one and only true living God of the Bible.

Satan Says - There Could Not Have Been A Worldwide Flood As Recorded In The Bible, Because There Is Not Enough Water On The Earth To Cover It.

Satan has convinced many people that evolution is true, and therefore, the Bible is wrong about the history contained in the first 11 chapters of Genesis. There could not have been a worldwide Flood as recorded in the Bible, because there is not enough water on the earth to cover it.

Actually, there is enough water on the earth to cover it to a depth of almost 2 miles, if all the ocean basins were raised, and the mountains were brought down. There is more water in the earth than there is on the surface. When a well is drilled and water is hit, it is usually fresh water, and people all over the world are supplied fresh water from such wells.

Jacques Cousteau wrote “Were the crust of Earth to be leveled-with great mountain ranges like the Himalayas and ocean abysses like the Mariana Trench evened out-no land at all would show above the surface of the sea. Earth would be covered by a uniform sheet of water-more than 10,000 feet deep! So overwhelming the ocean seems to be.”

Cousteau, J., The Ocean World of Jacques Cousteau - Oasis In Space, Angus & Robertson (U.K.) Ltd. London, England, p.17, 1973.

Satan Says - The Biblical Creation History Is Wrong, So Then What About The Rest Of The Bible, Is Any Of It True?

If the Biblical history cannot be trusted, then how can we believe that Jesus was born of a virgin, or that He died and came back to life, and then ascended into heaven? None of these claims are supported by science, and therefore, they could not have happened. There cannot be supernatural events occurring on this earth, only natural events can occur, as there is no God or gods.

If the Bible is written by mankind, as all other books you can read were, then the Bible is not a sacred book either. What indicates that the Bible is the revealed and inspired Word of God, as many Christians proclaim. The proof is in the fulfilled prophesies written in the Bible. There are over 100 such fulfilled prophesies just about Jesus, and thus, indicate Jesus is in fact the Son of the living God, and the Messiah.

Satan Says – There Is No Problem Believing That God Used Evolution To Create Everything.

Many followers of Jesus have believed this lie from Satan. Therefore, to get the Bible corrected they have come up with adjustments to the Biblical history to bring it in line with the views of mankind. In doing this they have coined different theories of how to add the time needed to the Bible to coincide with the billions of years required for evolution to be feasible. These theistic evolutionists have decided that mankind knows more than God, and they are just correcting God’s Word to coincide with the beliefs of mankind.

The huge problem with any such theory is it allows death before the original sin was committed by Adam and Eve, and thus, death is not the result of sin. If this is true then there is no need of a Savior, as Jesus came into this world to save us from our sins. Jesus had to be the perfect sacrifice to cover all the sins of mankind. Jesus had to be without sin as a man, or His death would have only covered His own sin, not the sins of all mankind. Without the original sin there was no need for a Savior for mankind.

But, this is kind of like saying that no Communist disputes that communism is the best economic system! If one did happen to dispute it, then he ceases being a Communist. Also, in a similar circumstance, there is plenty of disagreement among social scientists as to the causes of poverty. And similarly, no social scientist disputes that poverty exists; and that is because poverty can be measured and we can see it. It is the causes of poverty that can't be measured, and that is where the arguments arise. But in evolution's case, neither evolution, nor its causes have been measured. Therefore, people have reason to doubt that it even exists.

Sometimes sciences are grouped into two classes: operational science and historical science. Chemistry is defined as an operational science because you can conduct experiments, whereas paleontology is referred to as a historical science because it involves how things were in the past. And since no one can conduct experiments in the past without a time machine, there is a lot of wiggle room for interpretations and uncertainties.

However, there are other things besides a historical component that makes a science uncertain. Psychology, for example, has the problem that we can't read another person's mind to know for sure what is going on in the brain. We can measure a person's respiration, perspiration, heart rate, and even brain waves, but that also is uncertain and subject to interpretation. And, as can be expected, psychology is a field where there is a lot of disagreement.

Another factor that makes a science uncertain (or "soft", as some scientists refer to it) is how far removed the object of study is in time and space. This obviously disqualifies astronomy and cosmology from a high degree of certainty. While astronomers and cosmologists would prefer to deny it, their research is usually loaded with assumptions and speculative interpretation of data. Usually, the further away an object is in space, the less sure one can be in saying anything confident about it, other than the nature of the light that comes through the telescope.

So in actuality, each field of science, and even the subdisciplines within each field has its own confidence level. Biology could be considered a "hard" science, but it depends upon which subdiscipline one is talking about. When a scientist talks about an experiment in physiology, the results will have one level of certainty; the results of cell biology will have another level; and the results of a DNA experiment yet another. And if a scientist is talking about evolutionary biology, then there obviously is a high degree of uncertainty because he is speculating about history.

Basically, the bottom line is that everything a scientist says should be taken with a grain of salt—even scientists who are creationists! This means that scientific statements are tentative and unsure at best—and that is because fallible men make them. The only thing that is sure is the word of God. And that is what we are to put our trust in.

Satan Says - It Is Obvious There Is No God!

Satan has been able to convince many people that there is no God or gods! Many intelligent people see all of the complexity around this world, but are willing to believe that there is no intelligent design involved in this complexity. While they consider themselves intelligent, they believe no intelligence is required to create and sustain such a complex universe. If no logic or design is involved can we be sure our thoughts allow a logical assumption to be made?

Satan Says - People Created God To Give Them A Reason For Their Existence!

Atheists believe that weak people need to feel wanted, so they thought up the idea of a God that would protect them. Then they would have a feeling of being needed, and would hold out a hope of a continuation of life after death. Atheists feel sorry for people who are so weak they need a God to rely upon. Atheists believe that we only exist during this lifetime, when we die that ends our existence.

There is no need of a God in a naturalistic world view or in the theory of evolution as being taught to our children in public schools, and even in some Christian schools and churches. In the following paragraph an atheist sums up their feelings about living in this world.

We no longer feel ourselves to be a guest in someone else's home and therefore obliged to make our behavior conform to a set of pre-existing cosmic rules. It is our creation now. We make the rules. We establish the parameters of reality. We create the world, and because we do, we no longer feel beholden to outside forces. We no longer have to justify our behavior, for we are now the architects of the universe. We are responsible to nothing outside ourselves, for we are the kingdom, the power, and the glory for ever and ever. Jeremy Rifkin

Satan Says - When People Are Suffering The Humane Thing To Do Is Help Them Die!

More people are beginning to believe this lie of Satan. There are groups forming that desire to have euthanasia adopted as a legal option for people to end their life. If we believe that people are just another animal this option certainly makes sense. Farmers have killed sick animals for many years. The practice of killing our pets for humane reasons has been done for many years. There are organizations such the SPCA that was formed in large part to control the animal population. If you have an animal that is sick or just inconvenient to have, you can have such an organization destroy it for you!

Conclusion:

Our society seems to becoming more and more violent, as we decide to ignore God and the commandments God has given us that will lead us to a better life, even in this cursed world, in which we find ourselves! As we depend more and more on the ideas of mankind, and thus, depend less on the guidance of Jesus Christ, we drift farther away from the true wisdom only made available by God.

Would You Please Help The Ministry Of Creation Research Science Education Foundation, Inc.?

At the next CRSEF Board Meeting we will vote whether we can afford to fund the events listed below in 2016. It is very likely that we will vote to do all of these events, if the money is available when CRSEF needs to pay the fees related for the indicated event(s).

CRSEF will have a shortfall of $436.67, which is the difference between what we currently have available $597.02, and the $1033.69 Total Estimated Costs Of All Expenses CRSEF May Have 2016. We are praying for support from our members and friends to donate toward this shortfall amount, so CRSEF can serve the Lord by offering the programs indicated below in 2016.

Some of the friends and members of CRSEF have committed to pledging a regular amount, which they plan to donate on either a monthly or quarterly basis. This pledging method helps CRSEF to know what revenue will be coming. This is very helpful toward our planning the programs we can afford to offer in 2016.
