CRSEF

Creation Research,
Science Education
Foundation

Since its beginning, CRSEF's goal has been to educate the public about creation science and to conduct scientific research that supports the truthfulness of the creation account in the Bible. Board members believe in the inerrancy of the Bible, which we believe teaches a young earth and a worldwide Flood in the days of Noah

2015 Ichthus Music Festival Without A CRSEF Presence

By Terry Ivers

CRSEF will not be attending the 2015 Ichthus Music Festival which has been held in Wilmore Kentucky, for 42 consecutive years. The Ichthus Festival organization announced in 2012 that they would no longer be able to continue the festival. The Ichthus Music Festival was started in 1970 by an educator and a group of seminary students from Asbury Theological Seminary as a response to the Woodstock Music Festival held in New York in 1969.

This has been one of the largest venues that CRSEF attends each year. With an average attendance of over 20,000 people enjoying the camping, music and seminars that take place over the four day event. CRSEF has had a booth in the Exhibitor's Tent for most of the last 10 years. Over the past 40 years or so I have attended many music festivals and outdoor concerts, my first time attending Ichthus was 2003 as a chaperon for our church youth group. Having past experience of outdoor and indoor music venues I wasn't sure what to expect but what I found was an atmosphere of family and friends that genuinely seemed to care for one another.

In 2013 the "Ichthus Music Festival" was sold to Creation Festivals LLC, which holds two of the largest Christian music festivals in the United States each year. There was an Ichthus event scheduled in 2014 but due to extended school schedules and other scheduling factors the event did not happen. The 2015 Creation Ichthus Music Festival will be held at the Kentucky Horse Park in Lexington, KY and will take place July 8th through the 11th.

Simple Math or Sacred Geometry?

By Terry Ivers

I pray that the last article (In The Midst Of The Land Of Egypt) published in the April-June 2015 World By Design Newsletter was intriguing enough to entice some interest in The Great Pyramid of Giza (GPG). This month I would like to travel a different path and hopefully engage a new and different audience. We are going to explore, some of the evidences used to support the theory that the ancient Egyptians were not capable of planning and/or building the Pyramids to such a precise location and to the near perfect tolerances that are exhibited in the workmanship and structural integrity of the massive stone structure.

We will also explore the evidence and theories proposed by those that say the ancient Egyptians used only common mathematical skills and simple measuring and building techniques that were well known over 4000 years ago.

Aerial View, Giza Plateau (Shows 8 sides)

I will attempt, again in this article, to represent both viewpoints, my goal being to peak your interest so that you might take some time exploring more about this magnificent structure. I'll pass along the sources of research I used for this article but a simple internet search will unearth a mountain (no pun intended) of information.

We are very disappointed that CRSEF is unable to attend but do to the increased costs of the booth space and the need to purchase two spaces so we can take Dino-Tex. Our current budget will not allow us the opportunity to set at the CRSEF booth and talk with people and answer questions about new research and discoveries that support a Biblical young earth Creation. This interaction with the attendees gives us a perfect opportunity to share the Gospel with the hundreds if not thousands of people that would have passed our booth during the four day event. Hopefully someone from the CRSEF Board will attend at least one day of this year's festival. This will allow the board to start the advanced planning so that we do not miss this valuable outreach opportunity in 2016.

I pray that The Lord will provide CRSEF with the needed resources so we may take advantage of this very important outreach opportunity. Jesus told his disciples "The harvest is plentiful, but the laborers are few; this has never been more true than it will be at Creation Ichthus 2015.

Simple Math or Sacred Geometry?

I would like to start by giving just a sampling of what I am talking about and then I will attempt to introduce both ideas so that you will be able to start your exploration on even ground. First I will list a few of the common relationships suggesting that the ancient Egyptians were not technologically advanced enough to accomplish the precision that is found in the Great Pyramid.

1. The average height of land above sea level for the earth is 5449 inches. This is also the height of the pyramid.

2. The centers of the four sides are indented with an extraordinary degree of precision forming the only 8 sided pyramid, this effect is not visible from the ground or from a distance but only from the air, and then only under the proper lighting conditions. This phenomenon is only detectable from the air at dawn and sunset on the spring and autumn equinoxes, when the sun casts shadows on the pyramid. The curvature designed into the faces of the pyramid exactly matches the radius of the earth.

3. The (GPG) is located near the center of the land mass of the earth. The east/west parallel that crosses the most land and the north/south meridian that crosses the most land intersect in two places on the earth, one in the ocean and the other at the Great Pyramid.

4. The Golden Ratio (Phi), the squaring of a circle (Pi) and the Theorem of Pythagoras are all found in the exterior and interior designs of the Great Pyramid.

WITHIN THE GREAT PYRAMID, THE KING'S CHAMBER DIMENSIONS ENCLOSE A 3, 4, 5 TRIANGLE AND A 5, 1, 5 TRIANGLE. SIR FLINDERS PETER REPORTED THAT THE FLOOR WAS INSET FROM THE WALLS, AND THUS THE WALLS CAN EXHIBIT TWO HEIGHTS, ONE TO THE FLOOR SURFACE (17 FEET) AND ONE TO THE TRUE BASE OF THE WALL (10.007 FEET).

Dimensions of the King's Chamber

There are many answers awaiting those that cite the few examples listed in the paragraph above. I would like to now put a few of those answers before you. These ideas would be supported by those that believe that the ancient Egyptian civilization not only had the technology needed to build the pyramids but were able to do so using practical methods that were readily available over 4000 years ago.

1. The ancient Egyptians were very practical and simplistic in their methods of design while still having a very advanced understanding of

Is Creation Important, If So To Who?

By Terry Ivers

I was watching a television show the other night and a pharmaceutical commercial came on. I always watch these types of commercials with a sense of amazement, and this one was typical. The viewers watch a man and women in a park enjoying their time together, while the voiceover tells us of another miraculous drug that is making all this joy possible. Somewhere about a third of the way through the commercial you notice a lot of small print and a more authoritative voice doing the voiceover only this time they are describing the possible side effects of taking this medication. I started to laugh out loud and my wife looked at me with a very inquisitive stare, because it is not in my nature to laugh, at least that is what my family tells me, but I realized that that moment how really self-conscience and self-absorbed we humans are. We will take a pill to relieve pain in our feet, even though the side effects of this medication can cause multiple illnesses and sometimes death. This part of the human condition is very sad, but it was funny to me because the pharmaceutical companies have to include these warnings in their commercials which cost the companies thousands if not millions of dollars to create and display, knowing that the public will buy the medication regardless of the side effects. It is after all our comfort and happiness that we are concerned with. I tell this story to emphasize that facts really don't matter when we know what we want the truth to be.

This must seem to be a very strange start to an article where the question asked is about creation. I will attempt to show that the question I am asking really has little to do with the creation discussion at all. Creation and the age of the earth is very important to a lot of us that defend either side of the issue. Gallup did a survey in 2007 (see fig 1) and then repeated the survey in 2014. The results of the 2007 poll shows that there were 82% of the people polled that said they were very or somewhat familiar with Evolution and in the same poll there were 86% of the people that were very or somewhat familiar with Creationism. The poll taken in 2014 shows us that the 79% of the very or somewhat familiar with Evolution numbers went from almost even to a larger percentage of the people polled that were very familiar with Evolution. When we compare the percentages of those that were very or somewhat familiar with Creationism the results show a considerable larger percentage of the very familiar in 2007 to an even number when the poll was taken again in 2014.

In preparing for this article I spent quite a bit of time on the internet and anyone that has searched the Creation/Evolution controversy, debate, discussion or whatever you want to call it, can attest to the infinite amount of information that is available. Some of the articles are very informative and helpful but a large majority of them produce more confusion and contention which is not really productive. The differences in opinions about a creator, literal 24 hour days, young or old and even older creation just to name a few, have been around since man started to communicate through use of pictures, symbols, writing, and verbal language. We can read through many historical documents that record these and other Biblical teachings to have been a major stumbling block for may ancient as well as present civilizations. You will find many people and volumes of information to help support your opinion, which ever position you choose to defend or promote. I don't expect a definitive resolution to this discussion in my lifetime, if we have dealt with this for almost 4000 years or so of written history I expect it will continue till the Lord sees fit to reveal the answers to everyone leaving no doubt in everyone's mind.

Questioning authority has always been around; it was in the Garden of Eden in Genesis chapter three when the serpent asked Eve "Did

CRSEF will have a booth at this event which in the past has been called the Mason Heritage & Bicycle Festival. The festival started in 1965 as the celebration of the 150th anniversary of the founding of the town by William Mason. This year's event will take place over two days but CRSEF will only be participating in the Saturday events.

Saturday's events will start with the parade at 10:00am and continue at the Mason Municipal Complex & Community Center where there will be music, games, rides, food and family fun all day. REO Speedwagon will take the stage around 8:30pm followed by a laser light show and lastly the World Famous Rozzi's Fireworks display.

We will be at our booth all day even till the last Rozzi rocket explodes. Please come by the booth so we can meet you personally and you can see Dino-Tex, the HO scale Noah's Ark model and view the available Young Earth Creation literature that CRSEF freely distributes. We really hope to see you join us for the day.

Rebuilding

By Terry Ivers

Well here we go again! I pray and trust that the Lord has blessed everyone in some way through the publishing of the recent issue of the World by Design Newsletter. In this second offering we at CRSEF pray that all those that read this issue will continue to learn from, enjoy reading and feel the need to share this newsletter with their friends and family.

The main goal of CRSEF as a group is to glorify God and to promote scientific research concerning the biblical account of creation, which we believe supports a young earth, and to educate others so that their faith in Christ may be increased. CRSEF was once again well received by the people that attended the 2015 Midwest Homeschool Convention (MHC) held at the Duke Energy Convention Center (DECC) in Cincinnati OH on April 9th-11th 2015. This gathering always provides ample opportunities to share the latest scientific evidences to children, parents, teachers and other vendors as they past by our booth. As is always the case Dino-Tex and the HO train scale model of Noah's Ark attracts the attention of those that are passing by so that we can enter into conversations and answer questions. When we engage anyone about creation or any other questions about our beliefs, it is always important to speak with people in love and prayerful concern, that God may soften their hearts and open their eyes. As the Apostle Paul tells us in his letter to the Romans: 20For his invisible attributes, namely, his eternal power and divine nature, have been clearly perceived, ever since the creation of the world, in the things that have been made. 21So they are without excuse. For although they knew God, they did not honor him as God or give thanks to him, but they became futile in their thinking, and their foolish hearts were darkened. 22Claiming to be wise, they became fools, 23and exchanged the glory of the immortal God for images resembling mortal man and birds and animals and creeping things. (Romans 1:20-23) (ESV)

Let us remember that it is only the Gospel of Jesus Christ that has the power to change people. It is our responsibility as Christians to be prepared and truthfully answer the questions that are asked of us. We have science and evidence on our side but only God through the revelation of the Holy Spirit will change peoples hearts and open their eyes to the scientific evidence that is "clearly perceived".

Please notice as you look through this issue at the upcoming opportunities that CRSEF is involved in, or sponsoring, so that you can make plans to attend if possible. If you are able to attend an event make sure that you stop by the booth so that we can meet you and thank you personally for your interest and support. We are always interested in your feedback concerning the articles, photos or announcements printed in the World By Design Newsletter or on the website wbdnewsletter.weebly.com Your comments and /or suggestions can be sent to me at: editor@wbdnewsletter@twc.com, I look forward to hearing from you.

God Bless!

God actually say," and again in John 12:39-43 (ESV) <sup>39</sup> Therefore they could not believe. For again Isaiah said, <sup>40</sup> "He has blinded their eyes and hardened their heart, lest they see with their eyes, and understand with their heart, and turn and I would heal them." <sup>41</sup> Isaiah said these things because he saw his glory and spoke of him. <sup>42</sup> Nevertheless, many even of the authorities believed in him, but for fear of the Pharisees they did not confess it, so that they would not be put out of the synagogue; <sup>43</sup> for they loved the glory that comes from man more than the glory that comes from God. So even while Jesus was in their presence they still did not believe. Throughout the growth of the church the literal translations of these doctrines were trusted and taught until the middle of the 17th Century when the period known as the Age of Enlightenment (the Enlightenment or The Age of Reason) swept through Western Europe promoting analysis, reason and individualism in place of traditional institutions and authority. The Scientific Period led by Sir Isaac Newton which coincided with the Age of Enlightenment further fueled the questioning of authority. This period which lasted technically till the 18th Century is arguably ongoing at the present time as evidenced by current worldviews of today's culture.

Like in the first part of this article I believe it is important to point out that the amount of factual evidence, theories, hypotheses and dialog surrounding Creation could fill more space than the sum of all the information that was lost in the ancient Royal Library of Alexandria. My argument is that all this information is irrelevant if one does not have a definitive authority to guide them in these matters. Paul asked this question in Romans 9:21: *Has the potter no right over the clay, to make out of the same lump one vessel for honorable use and another for dishonorable use? As Ken Ham professed to Bill Nye during the debate in 2014, "there is a book", secularists will argue that you can't use this piece of evidence but yet they quote from many different secular sources that they use as authoritative. Carl Sagan, who was a very popular and well respected member of the scientific community stated on many occasions that he was not an atheist because he did not know enough to know for sure that there was no God, he only knew that he had no "visible" proof either way. Strangely enough he believed that there was extra terrestrial life and a large portion of his life was spent promoting SETI Project (the Search for Extraterrestrial Life). Sagan quoted in his book Cosmos, "One glance at it (a book) and you hear the voice of another person, perhaps someone dead for thousands of years. Across the millennia, the author is speaking, clearly and silently, inside your head, directly to you. Writing is perhaps the greatest of human inventions, binding together people, citizens of distant epochs, who never knew one another. Books break the shackles of time." I guess Carl only feels this way about "some" books. The Lord through his prophet said: You turn things upside down! Shall the potter be regarded as the clay, that the thing made should say of it's maker, "He did not make me"; or the thing formed say of him who formed it, "He has no understanding"? Isaiah 29:16 (ESV) This is why Carl and so many others like him can't look at a night sky or a sunrise and see God's supernatural work all around them. This is why I say whether we except the evidence and supposed facts or not, it is completely irrelevant to the Creation discussion.

The next aspect I want to address is the hardest for me to accept and also the most puzzling to me. According to an article and survey published in December of 2010 on the www.gallup.com website, (fig. 2), around 85% of Americans have some kind of religious identity, which accounts for the survey showing that 8 in 10 Americans believe that human origins were processes that involves God.

The bewildering part of the survey is that 4 in 10 believe that it was through an evolutionary process that was guided by God. I can mathematics as revealed in the Rhind Mathematical Papyrus.

2. The Rhind Mathematical Papyrus (circa 1650 B.C.) shows that the ancient Egyptians measured slopes without knowing angles or degrees using units called the seked. Seked was the ancient Egyptian unit of measurement that was used to determine lateral elevation changes.

3. The Egyptians did not use Pi in the design of the Great Pyramid necessarily because it is a natural property of any typical pyramid or cone shape to yield a number close to 3 when the slope angle is around 50 degrees.

4. The Cairo Museum has displays of simple measuring devices that could have been used to square, level and plumb during the planning and the construction of the Great Pyramid. As well as Dolerite stones which were found on the Giza Plateau and the quarries where the stones came from. Archeologists tell us that these were used to cut and shape the granite blocks from the Aswan Quarry where they were transported up the Nile River to the pyramid site.

Take A Number Please

The (GPG) also known as the Pyramid of Khufu to the Egyptians and the Pyramid of Cheops to the Greeks is a mathematician's delight, exhibiting an almost unlimited amount of geometric calculations and ratios. To begin with it is important to understand some of the terms that are used when discussing the geometry of the pyramid. W.M. Flinders Petrie began surveys and excavations at The (GPG) in 1880 and then published his findings by the Royal society in his book "The Pyramids and Temples of Gizeh" in 1883. Petrie was very meticulous in his surveying abilities and his measurements are considered to be the among the most accurate.

The units of measure must be determined before any of the calculating can begin, so we will discuss the Royal Cubit (RC) and the Pyramid Inch (P")first. The RC is taken to be 20.6066 P" and the P" is equal to 1.0011 British Inches. The RC is not a whole number due to its calculation being derived from the square root of  $\pi$  and the number of days in a year, this leaves a trailing decimal. These calculations of the RC and P" will be different when referring to multiple references, but when you multiply 20.6066 by 1.0011 this gives you 20.6293 British Inches (B") which compares well with Sir Isaac Newton's 20.63 B" and Petrie's 20.634 B".

Also when using these calculations you will end up with whole numbers when working with dimensions in the King's Chamber inferring credibility to these numbers. The "pyramid inch" is a term that was first proposed by John Greaves in 1638, this idea was later confirmed by John Taylor in the early 1800's when he named the unit of measure the "pyramid inch" which he thought had been earlier calculated as 1/25 of a "sacred cubit" by Sir Isaac Newton. The term "pyramid inch" became better known after Astronomer Royal of Scotland Charles Piazzi Smyth published "Our Inheritance in the Great Pyramid" in 1877. Egyptologist William Flinders Petrie went to Egypt to confirm Smyth's calculations only to find the pyramid measurements several feet shorter. Petrie was so disappointed by the findings that he abandoned Smyth's theories, writing there is no authentic example, that will bear examination, of the use or existence of any such measure as a "Pyramid Inch" or of a cubit of 25.025 British Inches. With that information in hand let's continue.

In a poll taken in 2013 by the Pew Research Center among 1983 adults 18 years of age or older living in all 50 states and the District of Columbia, (fig.3) they found that there is great diversity among the different ethnic and Christian and Catholic religious groups.

The same poll produced the results shown in (fig.4) please notice that the two questions both refer to an evolutionary process. Could it be that the church is confused for the same reason that the secular world is on the Creation/ Evolution Issue?

In the beginning, God created the heavens and the earth. Genesis 1:1. If you were God, how would you begin to instruct your creation? I don't believe that God could have stated His Mission Statement any more precise than what is written in the first sentence of the Holy Bible. God challenges "created" human beings, "created" in the image of God, to trust Him because He "chose" to create us for His glory. Some people get tripped up by the word "beginning", others have a problem with "God", and then there are the people that stumble over "heavens" and "earth" or cosmos if you like. It seems to me that besides "God", the word "created" would have to be the next weightiest word in the opening sentence of the most scrutinized and examined book in the history of the world. It appears to me that our Creator wanted to make sure we understood when, who, how and where! It also appears that God through the Holy Spirit made sure that this foundational truth was as straight forward, simple and commanding as it needed to be. Paul addressed this issue while in Athens this way: <sup>24</sup> The God who made the world and everything in it, being Lord of heaven and earth, does not live in temples made by man, <sup>25</sup> nor is he served by human hands, as though he needed anything, since he himself gives to all mankind life breath and everything. Acts 17:24-25 We have already shown above in John 12:43 why some people never see the truth, but if you have a hard time excepting the first sentence in Genesis literally, you will probably have a very hard time finding faith to believe any of the other foundational truths of the Gospel.

In closing I am certain that I have not said anything that we have not all heard before. I write these things only to cause all of us to ask God through the Holy Spirit to refresh and renew our minds and hearts through prayer and time spent devoted to studying what is written for us in Scripture which is the key to an abundant life now and for eternity.

Creation Research, Science Education Foundation

Since its beginning, CRSEF's goal has been to educate the public about creation science and to conduct scientific research that supports the truthfulness of the creation account in the Bible. Board members believe in the inerrancy of the Bible, which we believe teaches a young earth and a worldwide Flood in the days of Noah

Simple Math or Sacred Geometry?

The most obvious feature of the (GPG) is the massive size of the structure. The 13 acre base is equivalent to an average of seven downtown Manhattan city blocks. Which if you use the estimated weight of the pyramid and multiply that by  $10^8$  it will give a reasonable estimate of the earth's mass.

When each of the pyramid's four sides is measured in a straight line you come up with 9131 inches per side giving you 36,524 inches for the total base perimeter. If you look carefully at the sum of the four sides and move the decimal two places to the left you have 365.24 which is the exact number of days in a year.

The (GPG) is the only pyramid built with chambers and passageways above ground. The descending passageway from the door in the north face of the pyramid continues downward at an angle of 26 degrees 18 minutes 9.63 seconds to the base line. The descending passage is 344.3 ft. long, 3.94 ft. height, 3.4 ft. width and deviates from being straight by less than a .25 inch. If that is not amazing enough, lets carry a line continuing on the same angle as the passage (26 degrees 18 minutes 9.36 seconds) and it will continue straight through Bethlehem where Jesus was born. fascinating but it also crosses the Red Sea at the point where it is believed that Moses led the Israelites across during the Exodus.

A perspective view to show the immense size of the Great Pyramid

inconstancy of the measurements that are used. Due to the age and deterioration of the structure itself, "exact" measurements are not available. Egyptologists say that approximating and rounding of the numbers leads to manipulation of the numbers to satisfy the results. Many of those that believe the pyramid was built by the Egyptians use very convincing arguments to support their findings, let's explore just a couple of them.

Professor D.K. Hitchins is a retired British systems engineer and taught engineering management, in command & control and in systems science at Cranfield University at Cranfield, Bedfordshire, England. He has written books on engineering and Egyptology, "The Pyramid Builder's Handbook" and "The Secret Diaries of Hemiuu" both first published in 2003 and revised in 2010. Hitchins currently manages a website called "Prof's Ancient Egypt" which contains many excerpts from his books. I found a treasure chest of information with great photos, maps, diagrams and computer animations, which Hitchins uses to make a very convincing argument to support his theories. Most if not all of the "myths", as Hitchins refers to them, are well explained and precise, as well as easy to read and understand. Hitchins is far from alone in his thinking. The Rhind Mathematical Papyrus was reportedly found during illegal excavations and was purchased in 1858 by Alexander Henry Rhind and then given to the British Museum 1864 by the Rhind estate. It is thought to be the world's oldest mathematics book. Ahmose an Egyptian scribe and mathematician wrote the document around 1650 BC, and writes that the papyrus is giving " Accurate reckoning for inquiring into things, and the knowledge of all things, mysteries...all secrets".

The Descending Passageway

Let Us Be Practical

There are many archeologists, scientists as well as engineers that point out that the few examples I have listed and most of the amazing "facts" that have been associated with the Great Pyramid of Giza are due to the

Simple Math or Sacred Geometry?

This document gives proof that the early Egyptian culture had great mathematical skills.

Egyptologist and archeologists have discovered tombs and worksites over the past two decades that they believe were used to house the workers of the pyramids, located a short distance from (GPG). This has given further support for the Egyptians that always sought to prove that it was Egyptians who built the pyramids not slave labor. Excavations in the area continue but so far there has been discoveries of bakeries and living quarters and most of the necessities that would be needed to support a project of this magnitude. It is also being reported that recovery of well preserved bodies from the burial vaults show Egyptian bone structures.

I suspect there have been many in the past even before the time of Herodotus in the Fifth Century BC that have asked and debated these same questions. The Great Pyramid of Giza has been standing for over 4000 years, and if the Lord will tarry it will probably stand another 4000. Once again as I close, these are all man's ideas and therefore are fallible, I am only interested in the mystery because it is history and the sense of discovery is endless. So God willing next time we will follow the descending passage-way down into the Great Pyramid where even more mystery and unanswered questions await.

The Interior Passage System of the Great Pyramid is the only pyramid with a passages above ground.

Would You Please Help The Ministry Of Creation Research, Science Education Foundation?

The CRSEF Board voted to first pay our fixed annual expenses, and then we voted to sponsor the programs indicated below. However, as you can see from the tables below, CRSEF has a shortfall of $171.55, (which is the difference between what we currently have available $808.14 and the $979.69 Total Estimated Expenses for the remainder of 2015).

CRSEF believes God will provide, if these programs will somehow give the glory to Him. We are praying for support from our members and friends to donate toward this shortfall amount, so CRSEF can serve the Lord by offering the programs indicated below in 2015.
